

OCCUPATIONAL SAFETY AND HEALTH (OSH)

OSH 101 # - Intro to Safety and Health

Units: 3

An overview of elements included in a comprehensive accident prevention program. Skill development in accident investigation, record keeping systems, development and presentation of safety training topics and safety awareness programs. OSHA, EPA and workers compensation issues are addressed.

Term Offered: AS NEEDED

OSH 222 # - General Industry Safety

Units: 1

This is a general safety course for an industrial environment. Students will learn OSHA regulations, personal safety and understand the importance of safe work habits. This course satisfies 6 hours of instruction toward completing the embedded human relations curriculum requirements, in accordance with Embedded Curriculum Guidelines Option A.

Transferability: May not transfer towards an NSHE bachelor's degree

Term Offered: All Semesters