

ONLINE COURSE AND PROGRAM DISCLAIMER

Certain courses or degree programs are listed in the catalog as "online", but many still require an in-person component for completion. To determine whether a course listed as "online" has an in-person required component, contact the department offering the course. To determine whether a program designated as "online" has an in-person required component, contact the program coordinator. The department and/or coordinator are the final authority on whether in-person work is required.